

Value Relationships

1. Relationships Are Valuable Because People Are Valuable

We are made in God's image, according to His likeness.

2. Relationships Are Valuable Because You Get Out What You Put In

When one side of the relationship is not doing his or her part, it creates a disconnect, a void, a chasm.

He chose the cross, He chose the grave, He chose resurrection, all because he valued you and the relationship between us.

3. Relationships Are Valuable Because You Can Never Stay The Same After One

4. Relationships Are Valuable Because We Were Made To Do Life Together

This unity in community is the church.

4 Goals For Valuing Relationships

1. Never Use People For Selfish Gain
2. Help Those Trapped By Sin
3. See Everyone As God's Creation in His Image
4. Always Help Others See Their God-Given Potential

Value Relationships

1. Relationships Are Valuable Because People Are Valuable

We are made in God's image, according to His likeness.

2. Relationships Are Valuable Because You Get Out What You Put In

When one side of the relationship is not doing his or her part, it creates a disconnect, a void, a chasm.

He chose the cross, He chose the grave, He chose resurrection, all because he valued you and the relationship between us.

3. Relationships Are Valuable Because You Can Never Stay The Same After One

4. Relationships Are Valuable Because We Were Made To Do Life Together

This unity in community is the church.

4 Goals For Valuing Relationships

1. Never Use People For Selfish Gain
2. Help Those Trapped By Sin
3. See Everyone As God's Creation in His Image
4. Always Help Others See Their God-Given Potential